

NEWS DIRECTOR-VOCM

Opportunities to lead a legendary radio news team are rare. Today, that opportunity awaits you at 590 VOCM in St. John's, NL.

As News Director you'll oversee a radio newsroom unlike any other. VOCM serves the capital city as well as communities all across Newfoundland and Labrador. From politics to lifestyle, from technology to history, VOCM speaks to the province with award-winning coverage. VOCM is also interactive with the most popular talk shows and call-in shows in the region.

Beyond the scope of the transmitter, VOCM.com is one of the most-visited radio websites in Canada. Every day, thousands of people from around the world count on VOCM.com to connect them to what matters in Newfoundland and Labrador. VOCM.com is a natural extension of our newsroom, and overseeing it will be a key part of your role.

We are looking for a collaborative and dynamic individual to join our team, with a proven track record of newsroom leadership, talent development, innovative thinking, and change management. Our ideal candidate will have an understanding of the issues that face Newfoundlanders and Labradorians, and have the connections to bring those issues to life on the radio on a daily basis. You have an unparalleled work ethic, the ability to face and overcome challenges, and a strong appreciation for how local news radio needs to sound in order to remain relevant in 2019 and beyond.

If you would like to take the reins of this legendary news brand, and lead it into an exciting new digital future, we'd like to talk to you.
